Fashion

There are many ways to save money if the shopper knows materials and style. Some of the large variety stores have articles and clothes that are good and which cost far less than the same quality in more expensive places.

For the girl who dislikes clogs or platforms there are attractive sandals in the stores, to wear with resort clothes. Some of these have medium high heels.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

Mothers with school age children have a serious assignment to provide youngsters with the right food for growth and vitality--especially during summer vacation.

Orange & Prune Mold

1 package orange gelatin
1 c boiling water
1 c orange juice
10 cooked prunes
Grated American Cheese

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Cool and add orange juice. Remove pitts from prunes and fill cavities with grated cheese. Place in bottom of individual molds or custard cups, cut sides down. Add gelatin mixture and chill until firm.

Homemaker Hints

Wise shopping will not only help you get the most for your dollar, but will lead to fewer instances of dissatisfaction. To save yourself the time and annoyance of complaints and returns, follow these suggestions.

- Do your homework. Read consumer articles and information in newspapers and magazines. Consumer guide books and periodicals are available in public libraries.

- Familiarize yourself with the stores in your area. Compare their prices, general quality and operating policies. Check with friends to learn which firms they recommend based on their experiences.

- When choosing between items of a similar nature, check the labels for brand names or company identification. Should something about the product prove to be unsatisfactory and you must return it, you may have better luck than with products from unknown sources. While the better lines are sometimes more expensive (reflecting research, better quality, and background) they may save you money in the long run.

- Check for guarantees on the merchandise. Some manufactures offer a year or more guarantee on their merchandise. If the item does not live up to the guarantee, proof of purchase and the inscription or label will be helpful in obtaining a refund or replacement of the item.

- Be on the lookout for poor workmanship when buying clothing or household linens. Skipped stitches or uneven stitches may mean poor quality. Seam allowances should be at least one-fourth of an inch for unit fabrics and five-eights of an inch for woven materials.

- Look for solid construction when buying children's clothes. Jeans and pants should be reinforced at the knees with material on the inside, rather than patches on the outside which often become loose after a few washings. Seams should be double or triple stitched in stress areas.

- Make a few easy tests on garments to assess their construction and durability. Zippers should open and close smoothly and be flat with no bulges. Snaps should open and close easily. Pull gently at the seams - they should not stretch or pop open.

- Examine buttons and buttonholes to evaluate the quality of the article you're buying. Frayed buttonholes will get worse, and crooked ones will strain and bunch up the fabric. Better quality clothing has interfacing behind the buttonholes for added strength.

A few extra minutes invested in wise shopping will generally payoff in long-term product satisfaction.

Lion Country Safari To Play Role In Wildlife Conservation

ASHLAND- June 25 - When Virginia's new Lion Country Safari opens near Richmond next spring, it will not only provide an educational and entertaining new experience for thousands of families, but will also play an important role in efforts to conserve and protect the diminishing African wildlife population.

Located at the Doswell exit of Interstate 95, the 120-acre preserve is currently under construction as the first phase of the $40 million Kings Dominion entertainment complex in ple x which is scheduled for completion in 1975.

The new preserve will contain some 100 varieties of African animals and birds, a number of them on the "rare and endangered" list.

Lion Country Safari has an established record of successful breeding programs, and its Georgia preserve recently announced the birth of three cheetahs, only the seventh time such an event has occurred in the United States.

Lion Country zoologists have also had great success in expanding the populations of animsals such as lions and zebras which, while not considered endangered, are nevertheless under increasing pressure from man's encroachment on their native African environment.

Lion Country Safari-Kings Dominion is being constructed by Family Leisure Centers, Inc., a joint venture of Taft Broadcasting Co. and Top Value Enterprises, Inc.

Medicare Medical Insurance Premium Rolled Back By 60-Day Price Freeze

The monthly premium for Medicare Insurance scheduled to be increased in July has been rolled back in keeping with President Nixon's 60-day price freeze policy, according to Mr. William J. Vinson, Social Security District Manager in Lynchburg, Virginia.

"The higher amount will continue to be charged until the premium record for each beneficiary can be corrected," Mr. Vinson said. This also applies to Railroad Retirement beneficiaries and Civil Service annuitants who pay premiums for medical insurance under Medicare. Medicare Medical Insurance helps pay for doctor bills and many other medical expenses of almost every one 65 or over and disabled people under 65 who have been eligible for the monthly Social Security disability payments for 2 years or more.
